

Progress Report - Highlights from Appeal Chair, Mr Dan McNeill

An Angel from the West Window dismantled for restoration in Gavin Merringtons studio stonemason, Duncan Foster.

Work continues on the Stained Glass Windows. You can read more about this project in this newsletter. I thank Gavin Merrington and his small team who are applying such care, skill and attention to the conservation of the windows.

We have applied to the Tasmanian Community Fund for part funding of emergency works on the Nave Roof. More details on the ongoing conservation works rely on your continuing generosity.

We have a heavy programme of works which need funding. These include concluding the West Wall stonework; co-funding the Stained Glass windows conservation; and works on the Nave Roof.

Also covered in this issue are various fund raising activities which have contributed materially to restoration funds.

The commitment shown by so many of our people is wonderful!

Another window being restored

Further progress in the restoration of the Church has been achieved since my last note to you in September. Some new challenges have arisen.

Thank you everyone for your continuing generous donations and to those who have devoted so many hours to the Restoration Appeal. Your support is vital and much appreciated. More work is underway on the West Wall. We continue to be grateful for the skill and commitment of our heritage

We had some fantastic news early in March when the Trustees of the Bequest of the late Henry Allport agreed to our submission to grant a total of $30000 over this and each of the next three financial years to assist with emergency repair and conservation works on the Nave Roof. We are deeply grateful for this magnificent grant!

So far Second triennium donations received are $65,000 and $45,000 has been promised. As you would be

Federal Your Community Heritage Grant for Stained Glass windows - Progress Report

Work continues apace on the conservation of the stained glass windows. This work is the subject of a grant from the Federal Government through the Your Community Heritage Fund. The grant, which was arranged through Federal Denison MP Andrew Wilkie, is $79213, and is being co-funded dollar for dollar by our own National Trust funds.

The works are being undertaken by heritage stained glass expert Gavin Merrington of Original Stained Glass.

The three West Windows by the English manufacturer Clutterbuck have been conserved and are awaiting re-installation. This will occur shortly when surrounding stonework is repaired.

The West Windows were in poor condition owing to long term damage from the weather. There had also been indifferent repairs following part of it being blown in about 70 years ago and extensive work was required. It is proposed to place a clear protective external window behind the conserved window to prevent further weathering.

The Foster Window in the Kennerley Aisle is currently undergoing conservation and this will be followed by the Lady Chapel windows

While the project is still behind schedule it is hoped that some time will be picked up.

Below: Old tricks of the trade. The frames of windows were often packed with paper to make sure of a snug fit. If we're lucky this will be newspaper and might tell us something of the period in which the window was installed or previously restored.

Above and right are the same window.
Above: Is taken from the outside. If you look closely you can see the reflection of the roof and the city beyond.
Right: Once the window is cleaned and restored Jesus will look much brighter.

Next Project - Nave Roof emergency works

Many will remember the strong gales which occurred during Spring last year.

Unfortunately, it was discovered that the nave roof of the church (which was hitherto thought to be in sound condition) has been weakened by them significantly and moved. Much of the damage is recent however, a proportion can be attributed to the roof not being tied down to the nave walls and lightness of construction.

This is typical of rooves of the Victorian period which were designed to English standards and found to be not robust enough for the Tasmanian environment. The Church is subject to some extreme weather conditions which funnel along the Hobart Rivulet Valley and the west wall and nave roof have borne the brunt of the battering.

Consulting Engineer, Peter Spratt AM, assessed the problem and has recommend action in two reports. The reports recommend that urgent works are required to stabilise the roof. Otherwise a failure to act may result in more serious damage to the roof and walls of the church.

Longitudinal wooden members will be fabricated and installed to stiffen roof structure. The roof needs to be re-positioned correctly on the nave walls and the roof trusses and underpurlins repaired. The roof rafters need to be bolted to the underpurlins and the roof members affixed to nave walls by steel plating and bolts. Most of the works will require scaffolding, some of which the church owns.

A project budget of $87,000 is anticipated and as mentioned the Allport Bequest will provide $30,000. It is hoped that an insurance claim will supply another $26,000 and the

Allport Bequest makes a generous grant

The Restoration Committee is thrilled to announce that the Trustees of the Estate of the late Henry Allport have made a grant from the Bequest of $30,000.

This substantial contribution will be paid in six monthly instalments over the next three years. The funds will be expended on emergency and conservation works to the Nave Roof. The grant amounts to one third of the estimated cost of this project and answers an urgent need.

The Allport family has had a long association, as parishioners, with All Saints Church. The Faith and Hope windows at the rear north side of the Nave are dedicated to an early member of the family.

The Committee thanks the Allport Trustees heartily for their generosity. The Allport Bequest is administered by the legal firm - M+K Dobson, Mitchell & Allport.

In Brief

Book Sale

A book sale held in August 2012 from books kindly donated by Kingston Book Exchange on their closure raised $5,025.

Daffodil Show

Many people enjoyed the annual All Saints Daffodil Show held in mid September 2012 so ably organised by Owen Davies and Yvonne O'Neill at which $2,521 was raised.

Pitt's Host Fund Raising Luncheon

A beautiful November day, good company and superb food and wine enabled some sixty people to enjoy themselves at a luncheon kindly hosted by Philip and Charlotte Pitt in their house and garden in New Town. Many people provided the food and assisted in service and the day raised $3,000 for the Restoration Appeal.

The Nativity Mural in the Lady Chapel was undertaken through a co-funded grant from the Tasmanian Community Fund.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

Please give generously to the All Saints Church Restoration Appeal. Our target of $600,000 is achievable and any financial assistance no matter how great or small will be most appreciated.

And remember, your donation through the National Trust (over $2) is tax deductible!

Donation forms are available in the Church, the Parish Office, The Jesse Tree, by phoning 6223 1795 or from our Website.

In Brief

David Irvine's Donate A Stone scheme continues to raise funding for the appeal. Since July last year $2,950 has been raised. Donate A Stone forms are available on the table by the entrance door and on the website.

Trefoil Window

Following storm damage some time ago, when the trefoil window in the West Wall blew into the Church, an insurance claim has been lodged for repairs. Co-funding will be needed from restoration monies.

West Wall

Work on the West Wall stone work by local master stone mason, Duncan Foster continues. The remainder (including lancet window stone replacements) is being undertaken as the West Windows are re-installed. This work was the most urgent when originally assessed by the experts. It will be a great achievement when completed.
